Dear Brother:

“Let brotherly love prevail and every moral and social virtue cement us.” How often we have heard those words, yet do we truly follow them in our daily life?

Brotherly love, fraternity, friendship; synonymous terms which express the very essence of Freemasonry. Do we always practice them? Or, perhaps, are we sometimes more concerned with our self, how WE feel, what WE want. He who exemplifies Brotherly Love is more concerned with doing something for others. He has no time to carry a grudge or practice intolerance toward his fellow man. Let the cement of Brotherly Love and affection bind us together.

Moral and Social Virtue, building character, is the work of every mason. Building our character should continue throughout our life, because the edifice we construct will survive us. If we each practice charity, relief, and truth, those virtues that characterize us as masons, the building we construct will be one to be emulated in generations to come.

Several of the brothers have contacted me regarding the donation of books for our masonic library. If you have books that you can give or loan the lodge, please let me know. We hope to have several fund raising activities in the next several months to support this and other projects in our lodge. I would hope that each of you would support your lodge in these activities. W.B. George Carty is chairman of our Ways and Means Committee. Contact him to see what you can do to help your lodge.

Fraternally,

ROBERT J. HAYES,

Worshipful Master
