April 1991

Brethren:

Well it's over . . . As I mentioned in the February Trestleboard, the Mid-East crisis was about to begin with armed involvement and the outcome very much in doubt: Not so much as to who would be the victor but how much it would cost in the terms of loss of lives and the number of disabled and wounded who would return to their families as well as those who, for one reason or another would not return.

Our service personnel performed valiantly and achieved all of their objectives and now it's time to get out and welcome them home. Each year, we here in Millville observe Memorial Day with our parade and various picnics and outings that we all enjoy. But this year is special. Get out and participate in that parade and in some small way show your appreciation and support of those who served in that conflict and all previous conflicts as well.

We will again be participating as a group in the upcoming Memorial Day Parade and your officers are presently meeting with the American Legion in planning this event. So when you're called upon to come out, please do so.

P.S . . . Let's hope that when we put those yellow ribbons to rest in the closet we'll never have to get them out again!!!

GOD BLESS AMERICA

RON
