As the holidays approach and November draws near, I can't help remembering what Thanksgiving meant to me while I was growing up. I recall how our family gathered for the holiday meal, and as part of our Thanksgiving prayer, we'd each in turn say what we were thankful for that year.

You probably know the scene well, as your family may have also honored this tradition. Familiar responses sure to reappear each year included: "my family", "my health", "friends" and "home."

As I pause to reflect on this year - 1993, one item moves to the forefront. This year I have experienced a new fullness of life, and I attribute this to my deepened committeent to participation in our lodge.

The Masonic lodge has offered mc many things over the years that I have been a member, and even more during this year in which I have had the pleasure to serve my lodge and my brethren as Worshipful Master. Within our lodge I have found a wealth of time-honored principles which have served as a road map, not only to lodge membership, but also to daily life. Here I have found a group of men, gentle of soul and giving in nature, ready to serve each other and their community. I have found a fraternity which is comprised of good men whom I am proud to call my brothers.

I hope as you and yours reflect on the past year as you sit around the Thanksgiving table, you too, will find that a vital and integral force in your life has been the lodge and what it offers. Then, too, may you include in your lost of giving thanks, the brotherhood which we serve, and in return, has served us well.

Fraternally, E. Lee Myers, Worshipful Master
