

November, 1995

Brethren:

Now that November is here, Fall is in full swing, winter is approaching and Thanksgiving is around the corner. This gives us a reason to pause.

As Thanksgiving approaches we are often reminded to remember to give thanks for our many blessings. We hear this so often that it becomes a cliché that goes in one ear and out the other. However, at the risk of being a cliché, we really need to take a little time to think about our many blessings. I will try to illustrate this point by writing about my situation.

I have so much to be thankful for that I don't know where to start. I am thankful that: I belong to the oldest and largest fraternity in the world. I am a member and the worshipful master of the finest lodge in this fraternity. For my friends both in and outside of Masonry, they are the best. For my health, even though I do have a chronic problem with my back. For my family, who have always been very helpful and supportive of my endeavors. My in-laws, as odd as it may seem. While some people complain about theirs, I have to say that mine are the most wonderful, loving and helpful in the world. For my wonderful wife who supports me and who I love so much. And last but not least, for my son, Mitchell. He is so beautiful, a true gift from God. Even though he takes over my life entirely with his needs, he is the most important thing in my life.

As you can see, I am truly blessed. I hope that this list will help you to look at your blessings in a different light.

Fraternally,
BRIAN THOMAS, WM
